Louise Dickinson who spent three years as the manager of the world renowned Harrods Beauty Spa, in London and has returned to encapsulate and inspire us all with a wonderful new clinic and beautiful creation.

With her years of experience and knowledge maintaining international standards, after working in some of the world's top beauty salons and spas and many years of travelling aboard, she wanted to bring home nothing but the very best for her friends and clients.

'It's about taking beauty and skin therapy to the next level and exceeding the clients expectations.' says Louise.

Chrysalis Emerge Beautiful is a brand new advanced beauty salon that has opened up in the heart of Whangaparoa, just north of Auckland with a real point of difference.

The Chrysalis journey begins from the moment you enter the salon and extends throughout the treatment and beyond bringing the client into a sense of connection to the mind, body and soul, through touch, feel and smell.

Louise wanted to provide the very best and most effective in scientific AntiAgeing treatments and decided that the Danné AntiAgeing System was the most logical choice having seen the advanced Danné treatments performed in the famous Harley St medical district of London.

All Chrysalis beauty therapists and management are trained to the highest of standards in traditional beauty treatments in addition to specialised Chrysalis techniques.

Special focus is maintained with skin diagnostics and working on 'Sensory Touch'. Louise explains, 'this enables us to respond to our clients needs without common communication, but through touch, instinct, and results which are part of our own special Chrysalis philosophy.'

From the moment you enter the stunning premises your senses are aroused by gorgeous aromas, visual elegance and a relaxing hue of colours. The decor is modern and sophisticated, with clean lines and a bright and fresh feel to it. Each treatment room is draped with a different colour to stimulate or calm depending on the treatment.

Visually the salon is exquisite and flawless like a beautiful natural Chrysalis.

Services that are offered for both men and women are driven by the desire to achieve real results with a sensible, but consistent approach to skin care, thus providing healthy skin that functions at it's optimum level and radiates into our everyday living and self-esteem.

Health and wellbeing of body, mind and soul through the specialised Danné AntiAgeing treatments and internally with the BeautyNutraceuticals, combined with detailed knowledge and understanding of the physiology of the skin and body are an essential part of the service in a friendly, relaxing and non-intimidating environment.

The team at Chrysalis invite you to experience beauty treatments like never before, taking the beauty we already have on the inside, enhancing the beauty on the outside, and delivering you toEMERGE BEAUTIFUL.....
